LILY'S LOCKDOWN BIRTHDAY

AUTHOR INTERVIEW ANDY STONEHOUSE

Q: Tell us something about you?

I live in Leicestershire in the UK. I'm married to Victoria, and between us we have 3 girls. We have developed the Adventures of Lily series about our youngest daughter, who's 3 years old. We have published 5 books so far.

Q: How and when your journey started as a writer?

I started writing nearly 2 years ago. I'd always wanted to write and illustrate children's books, but had never really had an idea to work off. Lying in bed one night in the early hours I just started writing about my youngest daughter, Lily, and her favourite cuddly toys. This evolved in to a mini mystery story when she loses one of them and goes on a search around the house to find it. The next morning I started illustrating the story on a sketch pad, and that's where it all started.

Q: When did you write your first story? Is it published or not?

The first book I wrote was called 'Where Are You Moosehead?' Which was the end result of the story I described above? Moosehead is the name of her favourite toy, a strange looking cuddly pink zebra that we named Moosehead for some reason. Lily can't find her and goes on an adventure to find her, with the help of the house cat and some other special friends. The book was published in a July 2019.

Q: Tell us something more about your books?

They are about Lily and her first experiences as a young child. As a parent it is magical to watch your son or daughter grow up and experience the world for the first time. I wanted to capture those magical times. Between us, myself and Victoria have now written, illustrated and published 5 books in the Adventures of Lily series. As well as 'Where Are You Moosehead?' We have written about Lily's first Christmas, her first big family holiday, her relationship with her Uncle (who suffers from Motor Neurone Disease) and her recent birthday that she spent in lockdown. The last 2 books have been used as a vehicle to raise money for charitable causes, which I'm very proud of.

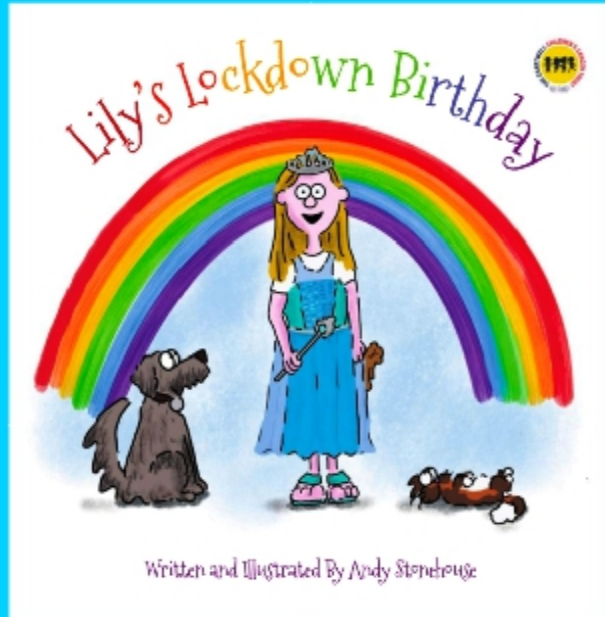

Q: Why do you choose kids as your reader? is there any specific reason?

As a parent of 3 girls, I have seen firsthand the magic of books in fuelling a child's imagination. I wanted to capture the experiences of all 3 of them in books in an entertaining way. So far, the books have been really well received and children have responded to them really positively, which I'm delighted about. They are aimed at 2-6 year olds, and are very relatable to children. They are not fantastical, but grounded in the real world. I hope they provide an alternative to the higher octane, fast paced stories that are out there.

Lily is looking forward to celebrating her birthday with friends and family, but lockdown has arrived to spoil the fun. Between them, Lily and her parents find different ways to help her enjoy her special day.

All profits of the book go to The Chartwell Children's Cancer Trust, a charity that supports Cancer and Leukaemia services to improve cancer care for children. The charity works with paediatric wards in local and major hospitals throughout London and the South East, as well as the wider oncology communities in these areas.

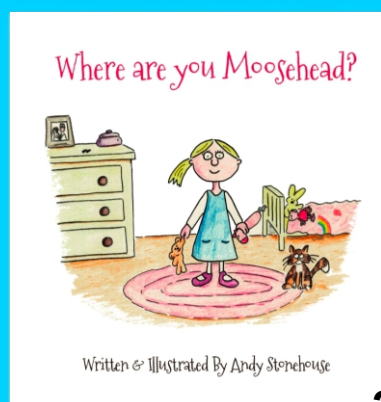

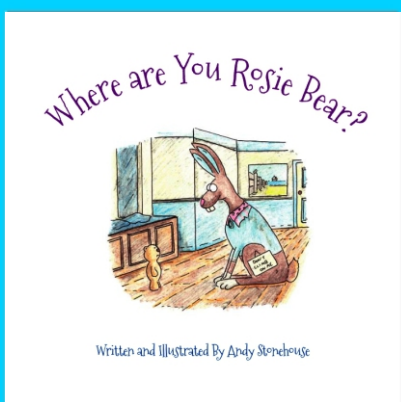

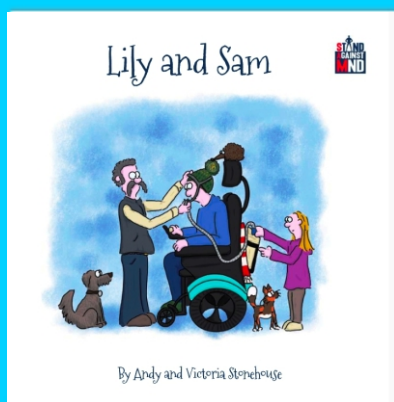

Q: How did these stories and characters come to your mind?

My latest, Lily's Lockdown Birthday came from Lily's experiences this year. She wanted to have a party with friends and family, like any four year old would. But this just wasn't possible with the lockdown in place. We had to come up with other ways to make her day special, whilst also trying to explain what is happening in the world around us with COVID-19. That's not easy to do to someone so young. Lily doesn't understand why the parks are closed, or why people have to wear masks. We just tried to simplify it as much as possible for her. I felt that lots of other parents would be going through exactly the same thing, so I decided to write a book that might help them with that challenge. It also seemed right to use the book to raise money for the NHS, and specifically, paediatric units. Which is why all profits go to the Chartwell Children's Cancer Trust, to support paediatric units in hospitals in and around London?

Q: Do you want to give any message for your readers?

I am trying to do some good with these books, as well as entertain young children. The Lily and Sam book is about Lily's relationship with her Uncle, who has Motor Neurone Disease. He is just 38, but has lost the use of pretty much all of his functions and has to use a wheelchair all of the time. The book is about diversity and inclusivity. Although Uncle Sam is physically impaired he is just as intelligent as he's always been. Lily learns from him, and they have a great relationship. The book focuses on that. Profits from the book go to Sam's charity, Stand Against MND to help those impacted by this cruel disease. ## Sarah Beliza Tucker

Sarah Beliza Tucker has been working in Children's Media for almost 30 years. Starting as a Fox Kids Club actress and producer, she learned to hold the attention of children through media since her teens. She moved on to theater, animation and video game production. She is dedicated to producing media that does more than Entertain, but also instills life lessons all children need to succeed. Sarah created Harry the Red Headed Lizard as a creative writing assignment in the ninth grade, and he has been with her ever since, evolving into what he is today. Sarah brings a sense of realism within the fantasy world, she gives young children a safe place to learn life skills and problem solving by connecting them with characters that they can relate to.

Q :When did you first realize you wanted to be a writer?

I've always dreamed of being a writer for as long as I can remember. When I was a child I loved to write silly stories and little plays for my friends and family; I would even recruit my siblings and sometimes neighborhood kids to perform them. Year's later I dove into poetry, but always turned back to scripts and short stories.

Q: How did you become involved in the subject or theme of your book?

My company, Ocean Aire Productions, has been helping the martial arts industry teach character development worldwide since 2006! I am a co-owner of a martial arts school with her husband, where I have been teaching and developing Character Education Programs for children for over 20 years. I created Harry the Red Headed Lizard as a creative writing assignment in the ninth grade, and he has been with her ever since, evolving into what he is today.

Q:What do you like to do when you are not writing?

I enjoy sailing, traveling, reading, watching movies, and documentaries, and eating amazing foods.

Q:What real-life inspirations did you draw from for the world-building within your book?

All the characters and mentors in my stories are based on the children, teachers and parents I have worked with over the past 20 plus years.

Q: What do you hope your readers take away from this book?

I want to bring a sense of realism within the fantasy world, and give young children a safe place to learn life skills and problem solving by connecting them with characters that they can relate to.

LUCY AND DARK FOREST

Once upon a time there was a kingdom of dogs named Lucida. The king and queen were Zener and Lucy. They were very kind hearted that they cared for their masses just like their family. On Christmas day they were travelling back to Lucida, a cyclone stroke them unfortunately. Lucy was able to escape but couldn't find where Zener was. She returned back to kingdom and cried a lot for him. The next day, Lucy called all the dogs of the kingdom and said, " My dear dogs, the king Zener was lost deep down in the forest .I need your help to rescue him. I hope you will be with me." The crowd were ready and they went to forest and started searching for the king . But when they were going inside they heard howling of wolfs and roaring of lions by which they got frightened and returned back to the kingdom. Lucy was left alone but she didnt loose hope .While she was searching for Zener she met a Hedgehog named Latte. Latte asked , "Who are you?" Then Lucy said, " I am Lucy. The queen of Lucida – kingdom of dogs. I came here in search of my husband Zener." Then hedgehog said, "This is my home. Can I be of help?." They both started searching in the forest.

We know the forest is very dark and wild. When Lucy and Latte were in search they were chased by a wolf. Latte was very clever. He got an idea .he used his pines and shot the wolf. The wolf was dead.

Before they thought they were safe one more hurdle in front of them. It was a black panther .it tried to attack them . They were helpless and started running. Luckily Lucy found a small cave and they ran into it to hide. the black panther wasn't small enough to fit in.

They felt a little bit relaxed and out of trouble but they weren't. They heard some weird sounds from behind. When they turned back they found something dangerous. It was a herd of wild cats .they quickly ran out of the cave and ran towards a small pond. They jumped into it. Surprisingly they were in front of a hungry alligator and a wild bear.

They ran from there too. They were too tired that they hide themselves behind bamboo trees. Latte said , " I can't run anymore . I am sorry I wasn't much helpful." Lucy said , " I am worried how Zener is? I hope he is safe."

Latte exclaimed, " oh no! Once again. Something moving in the bushes."and he got all ready to shoot with his pines .Then Lucy said, " wait let me see who it is. I could sense Zener." She goes around the bushes and cries in happiness .IT WAS ZENER. They were happy ever after with Latte in Lucida.

The Magical Tree

Once upon a time there lived Chaya and Maya, they both were twins but Chaya was younger than Maya by six minutes. So, Maya demanded everything from Chaya. Maya had a very good talent, Chaya had no special talent, as they grew up their father wanted them to become responsible and earn money. So he decided to give them a task. The next morning he called his two daughters and said, "My dear daughters I am going to give you a task you should accomplish it in the next 15 days." His daughters agreed. Their father continued, "you should earn money on your own and it should be Minimum Rs. 10,000."

His daughters were shocked; they didn't expect that he would give them a difficult task like this. Somehow they obeyed and packed their bags and started. They both went in two directions. Maya know what to do, but Chaya doesn't. The only positive characteristic in Chaya was not to lose hope, Chaya kept walking she didn't stop, then she was tired, she saw a tree and sat there. The tree on which she sat was a magical one, as Chaya was thinking how to earn money, a voice came behind her she was startled, there was no one around her then she turned back and saw the tree talking she was astonished. The tree said, "Don't be scared I am a Magical Tree, I will grant you a wish if have any". She said, "I have only one wish I want three talents". The tree asked "which three talents do you want". She replied, "Teacher, painter, gardener". The Tree granted the wishes. Then Chaya went in search of job confidently. She found a big palace with two children, she stepped in, requested their parents to be a teacher for their kids. Also she offered to be a painting teacher for them and a helping gardener. The parents were more than pleased to hire her at Rs. 5000 for teaching, Rs. 3000 for gardening and Rs. 4000 for painting. Coincidentally she saw her sister also in palace but only for a single task she excels at Rs. 9000. Chaya got Rs. 11,000 where as Maya got Rs. 9000.

When they reached home, Maya realized that Chaya has earned more than her. She apologized to Chaya and "realized that having talent is important but being smart is more important". Chaya and Maya now became good friends. But the best friend for Chaya was "The Magical Tree".

THAT ONE GREEN TILE

I Think Each Night She Wishes Upon A Star,
Or Finds Pictures In Billowy Clouds From Afar.

In this rhyming, melodic story, a mother tells her little girl that somewhere in the world lives another little girl who looks just like her. This propels her daughter into a journey of the imagination, where she visits locales from Spain to Japan, visualizing this other person in her familiar surroundings. From page to page, the little girl explores the possibilities in her head:

At the end of the story, readers are reminded that for all our similarities, each one is unique. And for all our differences, we share the same sky.

Children and adults alike will return to this delightful story over and over again as they admire the captivating hand-crafted paper collages and learn a beautiful lesson about unity and diversity.
