Editor's Note

Dear Readers,

When I started this magazine, I never thought we would come so far in our literary journey. We met so many amazing self-published authors and young readers who surprised me with their extraordinary imaginations.

This month we have world environment day, so I love the idea of children interacting with nature. On this World Environment Day, we should plant a tree in our garden and make our earth a beautiful place to live. In this edition, we have some children's books by kid authors, and they are an inspiration to many of us, Follow their journey of how they turned their dream into reality. We have stories by young authors and environment-related activities too. I hope you all like it.

MADISON L COOKS

Q: First tell us something about yourself?

Hi everyone, my name is Madison Cooks. I am 7 years old and in the second grade. My favorite subjects are Language Arts and Math. My hobbies are playing Tennis, writing, dancing with Just Dance, and playing with my brother Landon.

Q: How and when did your journey start as a writer?

My Grandmother, Dr. Frankie Dunmore, and myself started talking about writing a book last year. With the support of my parents Randall and Courtney Cooks, I begin coming up with ideas for my book.

Q: When did you write your first story? Is it published or not?

I wrote my first story in November 2020. The book is now available on Barnes & Noble and Amazon called A Little Girl's Dream: I Can Do Anything!

Q: Tell us something more about your books?

My story is based on my first couple weeks of tennis and I wrote my story to inspire other kids to never give up.

Q: Why do you choose kids as your reader? Is there any specific reason?

I chose kids as readers because I am a kid, and want kids to always try their best.

Q: How did these stories and characters come to your mind?

The characters and story are based on the people in my life!

Q: Do you want to give any message to your readers?

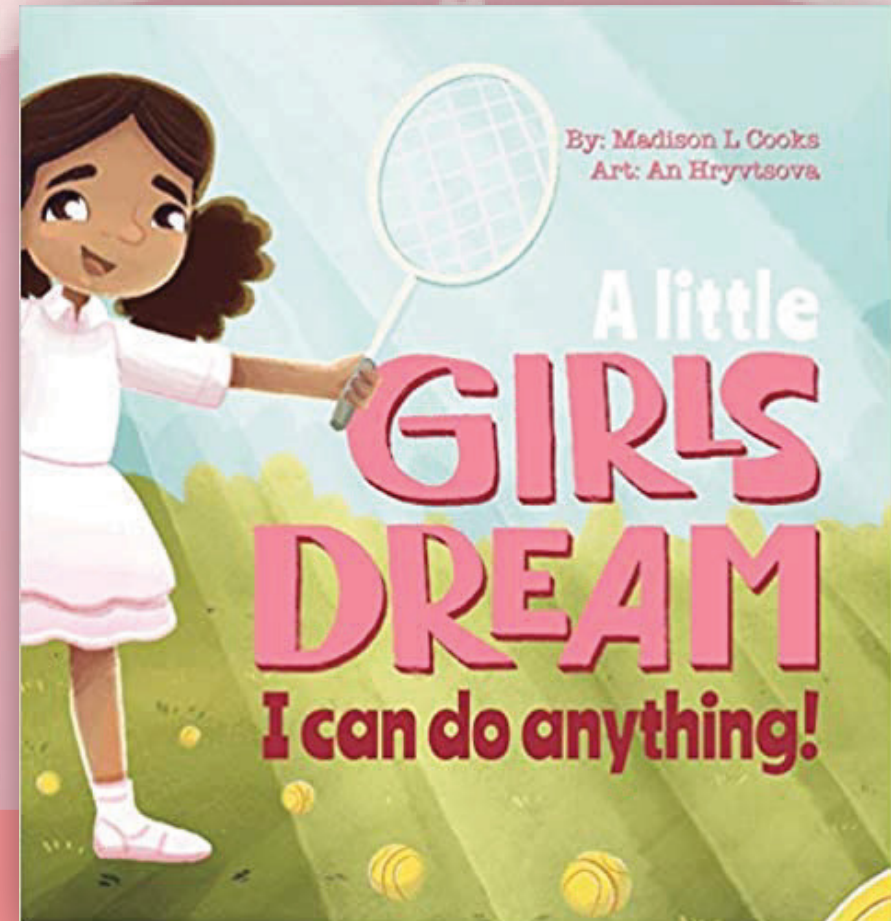

My message to readers is that they can do anything if they put their mind to it!

A Little GIRLS DREAM I CAN DO ANYTHING!

This is the story of a seven-year-old girl's first attempt at playing Tennis. When Madison starts her tennis lessons, she sees it as a challenging opportunity to develop her physical and mental agility. But when her training sessions don't go the way she'd hoped, will she give up on her dream of becoming a tennis player?

Moving into adulthood and professional life, failure is very viewed as a negative thing. For this reason, this delightful book gets at the essence of how to teach children to have self-compassion and to cope with their challenging emotions whenever they fail at doing something they love.

Tommy's Unstoppable Gran & The Magic Potion

I am a marketing consultant by trade with a degree in Business Marketing, a masters in Management Practice and diplomas in both Direct Marketing and Editing and Proof reading.

Family life during the last 10 years has led me down an alternative career path to my marketing consultancy role in the insurance and banking industry. Many of you will relate to the difficulties in trying to juggle a full-time (and full-on) career with two small children (and then four years later, a third).

I quit my job leaving behind all my experience in the sector to do something completely different. In 2014, I set up my own children's entertainment business which was a huge success.

Between running the business, home and looking after the family, I've worked part time in the television and film industry, with support acting roles in various shows including; Peaky Blinders, The Zoo, Mount Pleasant, Cucumber, Tango in Halifax, Foyle's War, The A Word, various television commercials and some photographic work.

In 2016, I took a small break from this to have my third child and to look after my second child who had a little bit of leukaemia to deal with (after two years of treatment, she's now thankfully fully back to health). The next challenge that my little entertainments business faced was the effects of Covid. Time to diversify!

Since March 2020 I have been writing and revisiting my marketing, editing and proof reading skills. I completed a Diploma in Editing and Proof Reading during lockdown to refresh my skills and to help with my writing (and to assist in the critique of my fellow writers). I was awarded a distinction from the Centre of Excellence.

During this time I have been writing across various genres. Watch this space for my other projects coming fully into fruition including a Young Adult Fantasy, a self-help and a rom-com.

Lea Reveley

What would happen if a potion with magical qualities ever got into the wrong hands? Tommy and his Gran are tasked with making sure that this doesn't happen.

Gran is no stranger to tricky situations, being accident prone, hard of hearing and often getting things mixed up; she's lucky to have her grandson by her side to help her out.

Things change when they stumble across a mysterious book in a charity shop window. This leads to a meeting with Queen, to taking on robbers and dog snatchers.

No-one is a match for this Gran.

A story that explores positive themes such as:

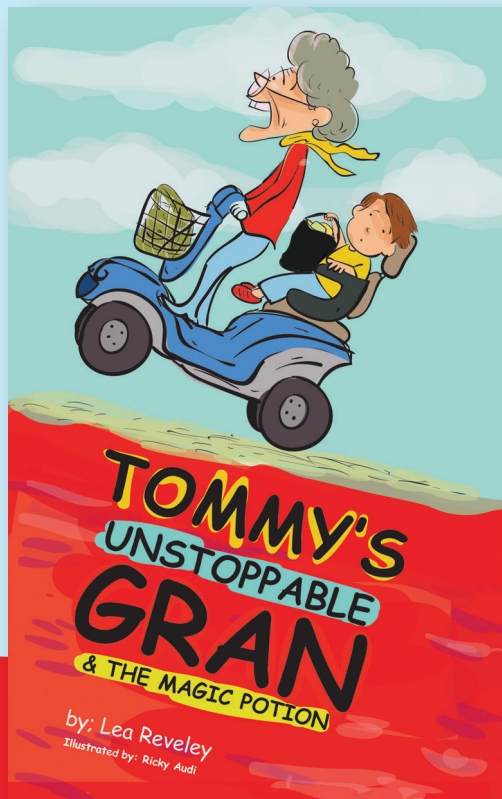

Kindness

Empathy

Respect for the elderly generation

Confidence building

With a magic potion that gives Gran superpowers, and the threat of it getting into the wrong hands – we're in for a heck of a ride. Will life ever be the same again for this crazy duo?

Q: First tell us something about yourself?

I am a big kid at heart who loves to share stories aloud and bring characters to life! I get the opportunity to do this often in my daily work as a Elementary School Counselor. It really is exciting when I get to share the stories that I have written myself. I am an author, counselor, and speaker who loves to speak life into people and show kids especially that there is still "good" in the world. I am a devoted wife and mom of two adventurous little girls (6 and 4).

Q: How and when your journey started as a writer?

My journey as a writer began from the time I could hold my pen steady. I could always be found with a journal in my hands especially starting around the age of 10. I used to make up stories of far away places or places that I read about in books. Then as a teen I began writing poetry or what I thought was just the many thoughts that consumed my head. This was like therapy for me and so my journal became my safe place where I would write every feeling and thought down.

Q: When did you write your first story? Is it published or not?

My first story was probably written as a kid but it was never published just shared with my class. However, my poetry that got me through some rough times became my first story. I went and looked through every old journal that I had and created a compilation book of poetry about different feelings. This book was called, Random Thoughts of a Perplexed, Relaxed Soul and was released in 2009. However, the publishing process was very difficult for me and I have been unable to get any more copies of this book and for that reason I re-released it this year for my birthday.

Q: Tell us something more about your books?

All of my books deal with social emotional learning. They focus on self awareness and social awareness mostly. I believe in using my writing as an avenue to sprinkle some positivity back into the world. It is always my hope that when a person or kid finishes one of my books that will feel empowered and encouraged. This is with my poetry books, my journals, and of course my Children's books.

Q: Why do you choose kids as your reader ? is there any specific reason?

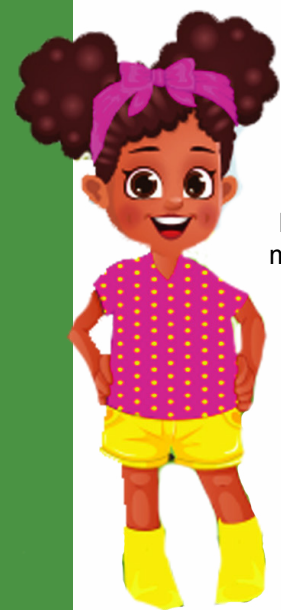

As a counselor I have seen the importance of speaking positivity into the lives of children. I have seen their struggles with self esteem, self love, self resiliency and wanted to meet that need. Plus, becoming a mom and believing in the importance of reading but not just any books I wanted books that featured children that looked like my babies. I wanted them to see themselves on covers and know that they can be and do great things. Lastly, I simply love seeing the smile on a kid's face when they hear a great story and I wanted to be the one to write it.

Q: How did these stories and characters come to your mind?

I am forever in my head and have always been a daydreamer. However, having two little girls I often picture them in my stories mixed with the many bubbling personalities that I counsel in my daily job at the Elementary school.

Q: Do you want to give any message for your readers?

I want my readers to know that I write to show them that there is still good in our world and that they can be that "good" even when they don't see it. I also want my readers to know that it is in a book that the limits to where they can go and what they can do no longer exists...So, Keep reading, Keep dreaming, You will do great things!

TRUE FRIENDSHIP IS SWEET

A STORY THAT TEACHES DIVERSITY

Emerson Ruth Johnson is a full of life, racially sheltered, six year old African American girl from New York. In this story, Emerson experiences for the first time how different life can be in southern Georgia. Having only been taught that diversity is what makes us all special and what makes friendships so sweet...What new lessons will she learn while meeting and making friends? Will her new friendship allow her to start the conversation when it comes to embracing diversity? Find out as Emerson shares her sweet tale of friendship

Dr. Christie Black-Murrell was born and raised in Columbus, GA just 100 miles south of the big city of Atlanta, GA. All her life she has used writing as an avenue to express her feelings and creative imagination. She has several publications beginning in 2009 with Random Thoughts of Perplexed, Relaxed Soul (a collection of poetry). "Soul Cries" (audio book of poetry), 2014 "Show Me Love" (collection of Poetry), and then in (2020) her very first interactive Children's book, "Do You Know...powerful praise from parents to child" was birthed. This publication led to her pairing it with a "Coloring Book of Positivity" and "35-day journal of positivity". Following all the craziness of 2020 and being such an avid believer in journaling Dr Murrell released a journal entitled, "2020 the year that blew up my life". Most recently, Dr. Murrell released a Children's short story focused on a poignant issue in our country, diversity and inclusion titled, "True Friendship is Sweet." Dr. Christie Black-Murrell is a devoted wife and enthusiastic mom of two adventurous little girls. Dr. Murrell has worked as a counselor in a variety of setting for the last 18 years but most recently as a School Counselor. She is a big kid who loves to read stories aloud and make characters come to life with puppets and animated voices. She desires daily to show children that there is still good in the world and that they can be the "good" in the world. Christie loves the written and spoken word which she uses as an avenue to "Speak Life and Promote Love" to all that she engages. This is shown in her writing, her speaking engagements, spoken word, and her counseling. She believes that writing and speaking life is a part of her purpose and gives her all in everything that she writes. Lastly, you can most often find Dr. Murrell spending time with her family, worshipping God, writing, or reading a good book.

JULIE WOLF

Julie Wolf is the founder and creative force behind Geniuses@Play. She holds a bachelor's degree in Early Childhood Education from the University of North Texas, and taught at the elementary school level for twelve years, eight of those in a kindergarten classroom.

A wife and mother as well as a teacher, Julie left the school system to throw herself into motherhood, full time. When her children began preschool, Julie once again entered teaching, this time as a preschool educator. Her love for teaching and molding young lives continued. She began to inspire other moms and educators about the need to intertwine education with play. Julie co-founded the innovative Little Techie Tots program, a successful computer education program, tailored to help preschoolers reach developmental milestones through the use of cutting-edge technology. The five years she spent developing Little Techie Tots and the hands-on knowledge she acquired, inspired her to create her latest project: Geniuses@Play, created to allow her to share her ideas, techniques and concepts on a nationwide scale.

Julie's love to teach and mold young lives continued. She began to inspire other moms and educators about the need to intertwine education with play through her creative children's books. Geniuses at Play strives to bring out the genius in every child.

Geniuses At Play, we take pride in developing and marketing engaging products for children, ages preschool to second grade. All of our products aid in the teaching, entertainment, and socialization of children in a tech-centric world. We provide tools, apps, books, toys, and teaching aids to retailers, distributors, teachers, homeschoolers, and parents.

TOO MUCH RAZZLE-DAZZLE!

Too Much Razzle-Dazzle!

by Julie Wolf
illustrations by Brad Kozak

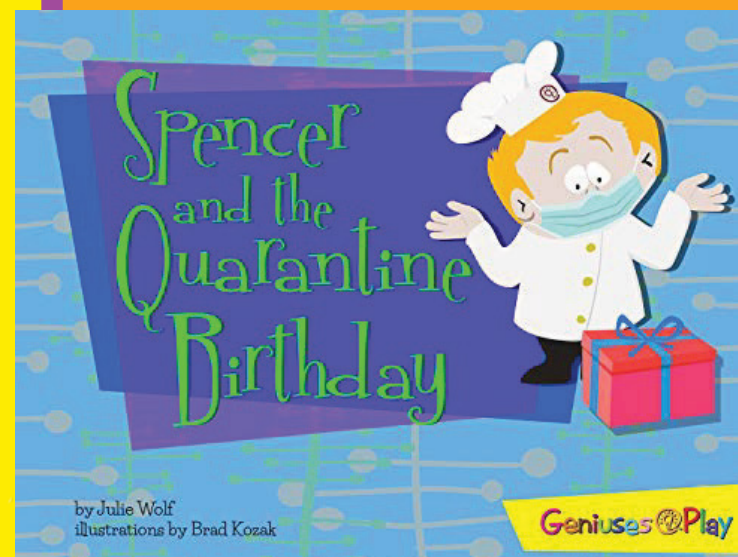

Geniuses@Play

Too Much Razzle-Dazzle is an endearing whimsical story that encourages children to make good choices. This story begins with little Spencer Winkles, a future master chef, baking with his mom. The Winkles are famous for their tasty pastries. Spencer loves to bake, especially his favorite, sprinkle sugar cookies.

Spencer wants this batch to be extra special because after all, they are for his brother's birthday. Even though Spencer was warned by his mom to follow the sprinkle recipe to a T, he purposely adds too much of his mom's secret family ingredient, Razzle-Dazzle food coloring. He wanted to make the sprinkles extra bright and tasty. The next morning, Spencer woke up to beautiful vibrant rainbow colored sprinkles. Unfortunately, one bad choice led to another when Spencer took the sprinkles to school. A crazy mess began to unfold in Spencer's classroom. You will laugh out loud with Spencer and his friends when reading Too Much Razzle Dazzle. Join them on this silly adventurous day as they encounter wonderful and colorful sprinkles, uncontrollable but definitely notable hiccups, and rainbow popping no stopping bubbles.

SPENCER AND THE QUARANTINE BIRTHDAY

In the story, Spencer and the Quarantine Birthday, children learn that even when life brings strange and unusual circumstances such as a worldwide pandemic, we can adapt by working together to solve life's problems. Miss Hunnybun encourages her students to use their own special voice to help each other to make our world a better place.

During a Pandemic

Written by ASHLEY PERROTTI
Illustrated by FAZAL NABBIE

Author : Ashley Perrotti
Illustrator : Fazal Nabbie

"Lyrical and upbeat, During a Pandemic helps kids understand and navigate the recent events and the changes that have occurred in the world and everyday life. Through words and pictures, author Ashley Perrotti and illustrator Fazal Nabbie offer insight into what the pandemic means now and in the near future. It communicates the message that the most important part of life is family."

ASHLEY PERROTTI

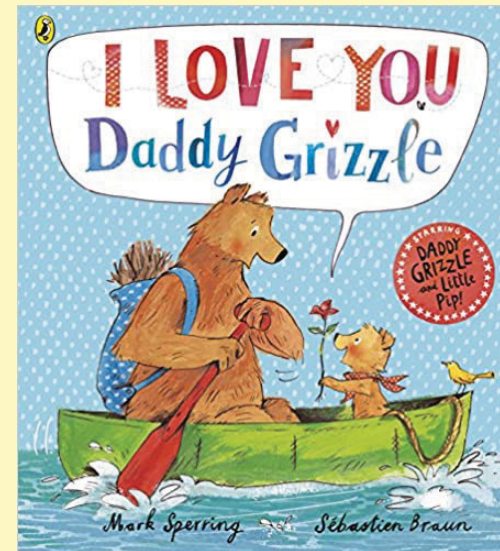

Hi, I'm Ashley Perrotti, a mom of two who felt inspired last year to write a book to help children get through the pandemic!

Seeing kids struggle with the changes that the pandemic brought to our every day lives, and seeing parents struggle to explain it, I knew this book could help others. My step-father Fazal is the illustrator, and he did a beautiful job of illustrating my poem, which we are now proud to say is a hard copy book!

BRITTANY C. MBAYE

The Pen is Mightier than the Sword. Brittany believes the way to improving society is by beginning at the roots.

What better way to change society for the better, than by educating the little ones who are yet to step foot in the real world? Curating a fine balance between passion and care, I'm a woman of color and I take the utmost pride in that! Over the years, we have witnessed the current and past social injustice to people of color. These issues motivated me to establish a positive notion about my community, with which I became the author of children's books.

To date, I've written two books for children, and being a mother of four little munchkins, I have carefully written what I believe will keep children captivated. With my books, I want to teach our youth and make them aware in the most engaging manner.

TAKE MY HAND

One day, while feeling nostalgic because it hit me that my children were grown and moving on to start their life on their own, I started thinking of the first time I took their hands in mine, and every time they took my hand since then and the significance it had, and still has to this day.

I wondered how every mother in the world handled this feeling and decided to include each mom from every walk of life into my story. I'm sure MANY mothers, grandmothers, aunts, sisters, cousins, daughters, etc. can relate to one, if not all, of the beautiful memories of holding our mom's hand or our babies holding ours!

THE GRATEFUL BOAT

Once upon a time, there lived a FISHERMAN named Antonio. He had a heart of GOLD. He was kind and COMPASSIONATE not only to plants, animals and humans but also to non living things.

But, he had no family. He lived in a small hut near the shore. His only companion was his boat.

Everyday morning, he would hop on to his boat and go for fishing. On his return, he would thank the boat for such a wonderful journey.

He would even talk with his boat. He used to say, "Oh !boat, you have just returned from such a long trip. You must be tired. Let me give you a Refreshing bath."

Saying so, he would rub and scrub the boat and make it tidy and shiny. He took great care of his boat.

One morning, large grey clouds filled the sky. He also heard the pitter patter of rain. He thought "May be few drizzles" and hopped onto his boat as usual and sailed away.

Suddenly, the rain became INTENSE. It started to rain cats and dogs. He quickened his pace. But he had less control over the boat. The boat swayed very hard over strong violent ways.

But it did not tumble. As Antonio took great care of the boat, it was boat's turn to save Antonio's life.

Thus, Antonio was back on shore safe and sound. He kissed the boat with more LOVE, RESPECT and gratitude.

Virus Busters

Hello! I'm Virtuous best-selling author and CEO of Vnc-books publishing Company. Born in the United States but raised in West Africa Ghana. I love and embrace both cultures. As an alumni of Rutgers University, my life profession has always been geared towards serving children and families. My desire is to cater to children especially the ones in the Inner City by teaching and mentoring them to be their very best.

Writing is my passion because it allows me to educate and inspire. Fun facts: I love dancing and I have a pet bunny name "Snow"

For nearly 15 years I had dreamt of becoming a children's author. In 2019 that dream became a reality and the Animalsville series was born. I travel to schools and libraries to read my books and engage children in interactive activities. Since the pandemic, I provide story and activity times Live on my Facebook page. I meet with children and families weekly on Club4Kids on the Clubhouse app, for fun story time and activities. To receive my "I Know! Virtuous Cornwall

An adventurous story that teaches children how to practice good hygiene to help prevent the spread of germs and viruses.

At school, Little Doggins experienced something unpleasant which led his teacher Mrs FlamingoZip to read a story about germs and viruses. Little Doggins along with his two class mates Little Owlfin and Little Elephanta took a trip to the library to learn more. This led them to create the Virus Busters team. This is an adventurous, educational story about living a healthy lifestyle and practicing good hygiene. It also teaches children the power of unity and how working together yields great results. Further the poem in the story will get kids excited to practice good hygiene.

THE GAP GIRL

Once my family rented a bungalow in the Upstate Randwick. It was a nice two storied house with a backyard and a garden. There are four people in my family: myself Matila, my little brother Sichan, my mother Marida and my father Chan. My brother and myself loved the place so much that we could not stop thinking what was in store for us tomorrow. We also started school there. It was so much fun. One night I was sleeping in my room(I sleep alone). Suddenly I heard someone calling my name. I was not scared because I knew that tomorrow was Halloween, so pranksters must have come to scare me. I went back to sleep.

The next morning, I woke up and got ready for school. As I was going out of my bungalow, I heard the same voice calling my name again and again. I just smirked and went to school. After I came back from school I had a great time with my family while eating snacks. After eating snacks, I went to my room to do my homework. While I was doing my complex sums, I heard the same voice again. This time it felt quite closer to me. I was scared and directly ran downstairs to my parents' room and asked them if they heard any unusual voice coming from my bedroom. They said they heard nothing. Hearing this I felt a little relieved. I assumed it was my superstition and went back doing my homework. But post this experience I began keeping my room lights on every night.

After that day I did not hear the voice again for many days to come. I was very happy that my life was normal again. Once again, I started sleeping with my room lights off. After some days, I started feeling unusual sensations while being in my room like I was being watched, some odd odour in my room, etc. I could hear someone laughing or sometimes crying but I didn't pay attention to it. Until one day I started hearing the same voice. But she was not just calling my name she said,"Matila! Oh sweet Matila WILL U COME TO PLAY?" in the creepiest way ever. I just freaked out and sat up in my bed. I had the scariest feeling in the world. I went cold!

I did not tell this to anyone but in school I heard stories of a girl who lives in the gaps of our furniture and haunts who ever laughs at her! At the start I did not believe in this and I laughed on these stories. But now with these weird happenings somewhere I began to believe that this is her way of saying that she is real. I got GOOSEBUMPS!

That night it was difficult for me to get sleep. However, I gradually dozed off in my fantasy world. It was 3am in the morning when suddenly my eyes opened, and I saw a dark figure walking towards me. She was my age her hair was scattered, her jaw was broken, her hands and legs were dislocated she was walking crookedly towards me, her dress was white and had blood stains over it as if she was beaten to death. I was hell scared. I just froze in my bed. She started saying,"Matila! Oh, sweet Matila will u come to play?" She repeatedly asked the same question in the most spine-chilling way ever. I told her that I would not play with her. She became angry and grew larger in size and now she appeared more TERRIFYING than ever. I just jumped out of my bed and ran to my parents' room as fast as I could. I never looked back.

I told everything to my parents and Sichan started laughing. I asked them if I could sleep with them for a few nights. They allowed me to sleep with them. A few nights later Sichan woke up with the worst nightmare. He said that in his dream he woke up at 3am and heard a girl saying,"Sichan! Oh, sweet Sichan will u come to play?" He said he saw the most HORRIFIC sight of a girl. We all got up and sat on our bed.

We saw the alarm clock ticking, it was 3am!
